MEMORIES

threads and threads weave up our lives threads of experiences, wools of frustration, silks of joy they become us, yet they are never static and never the same for any two of us . . . we are woven into our tapestries . . . we are the weavers and everything that we go through and everything that we feel, see, and taste goes into the endless creation of these tapestries . . . that is what we have been doing in the past three years of our lives . . . and perhaps, too, our tapestries are a little bit woven together because of this . . .

There is a changing view of an everlasting vision,
Woven out of bits of magic out
of gold and blue
To see and feel a tapestry
impossible to hold.

As little toy shovels
Are lost by the sea
So are the children
Like you and me.

"Little Shovels"

Mason Williams

Gather the stars if you wish it so.
Gather the songs and keep them.
Gather the faces of women.
Gather for keeping years and years.

And then . . .

Loosen your hands, let go and say
good-bye.

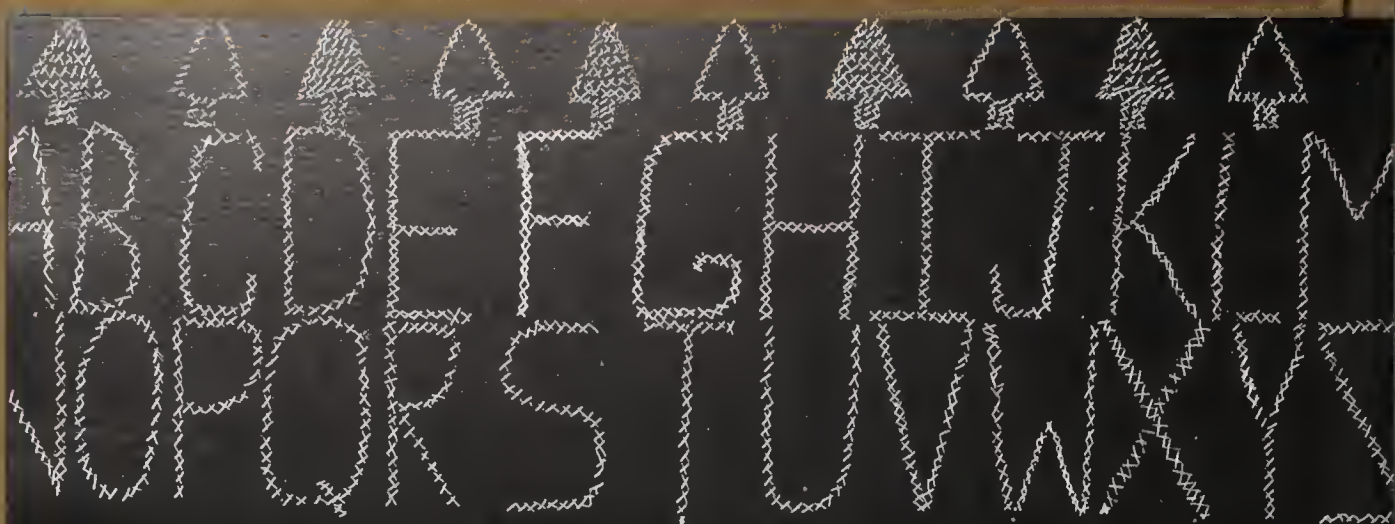

Let the stars and songs go.
Let the faces and years go.
Loosen your hands and say
good-bye.

Carl Sandburg

Seasons change with the scenery;
Weaving time in a tapestry,
Won't you stop and remember me
At any convenient time?
Paul Simon

me weren't cool. Holding me down, turning me round, filling me with your rules. I've got to admit it's getting better.*

... And The World Will Be Better For This

We went for the big one, we tried for all the marbles, played all our chips on one hand and we lost the big one, couldn't come up with the big play. The goal we bled, sweated, worked, and strived for with every fiber was squashed and taken from us, pulled away just out of sight but close enough so we could hear others celebrating, cheering. But in striving for the mountain peak we were brought together like a puppet's string. We shared out minds, pleasures, and tears. We won together and then, in the end, were crushed together. We were true friends, not a "Hi, Bob" but brothers; we thought, dreamed, and prayed for the same goal. We felt the same pain as our beautiful balloon floated into the sun. Soon we'll go our separate ways into the endless caverns of life but in some small way at some time, we'll all wonder, "what if? what if ..." but it's gone now and possibly a tear, the same kind that clouded our eyes that day, will again block our paths. We lost, we lost but maybe we did win. Maybe we dreamt too much, maybe we didn't have a chance, but we gained. We understand better now, maybe the highs and lows, the victories and defeats, the good times and bad, made us all better men, better capable of understanding life. The time passed quickly and slowly — as fast as it takes for the ball to hit the net but as slow as the play is replayed in your mind. Everyone left a part of themselves on the field, the best and the worst, the heroes and the goats, but we're all there, every one of us, dreaming, working, sweating, dying, and our impossible dream is being scraped off the bottoms of younger spikes.

I'm so happy mommy & daddy got me my tricycle.

Oh, no I heard something rip.

My real profession is ballet.

Do you promise you'll always love me?

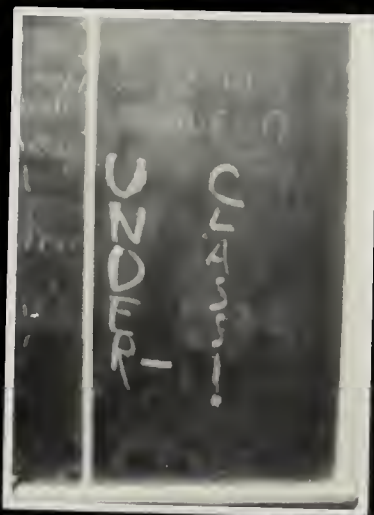

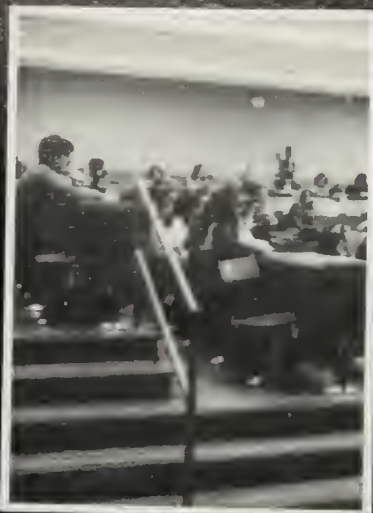

JUNIORS

SOPH

Who said sophomores were babies?

I saw him first, he's mine.

When a sophomore first walks into the halls of M.N., what do you think is going around in his head? Well, when I first walked in I was petrified! Top lockers that I couldn't reach! Winding hallways. And get this, an elevator! Swank huh? Why, even the lunchroom food is good! It is too much.

Then, of course there are some sad notes. Like a non-smoker walking into the bathroom and contracting cancer. What about an innocent bystander standing in the halls and getting carried by the throng of people to the other end of the hallway? How about sitting in a smear of mustard or jell-o at lunchtime?

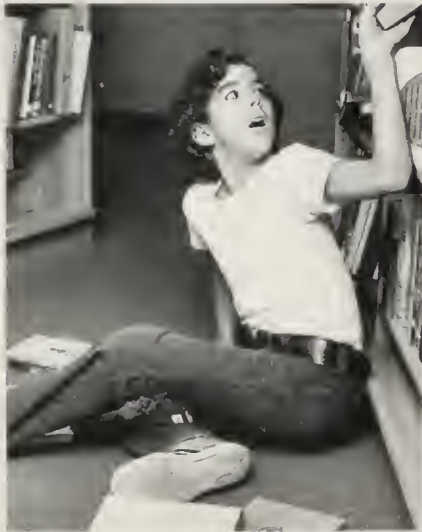

As for the teachers, they're nice. A little bit confusing though; Mr. Chalker, Mrs. Chalker; Mr. Jeffrey, Mr. Jeffries; Mr. Schmidt, Mrs. Schmidt; Mr. Ash, Mr. Esch; Mr. Alvin Green, Mr. Tom Green; Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Johnston; Mr. Buoni, Mrs. Buoni; Mr. Harold Miller, Mr. Harry Miller.

There is at least one good thing. A free newspaper!

Michael Spear

It's the juicy Plantman.

I prefer the floor to a chair anytime.

Hmmmm, veeery interesting.

Hey, What are you doing behind
there!

They still put us in corners for being bad.

Chipmunk!

Want some!!!

You're actually gonna eat that stuff!

Nothing like good ol' M.N. food to start the day off right.

Come on, try it, it's hand rolled.

Looks like we're in for trouble.

You just ate a fly.

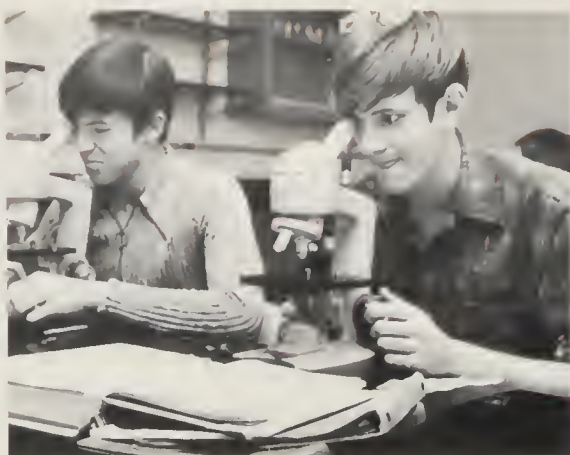

Hey, not bad

I never thought Biology could be so interesting!

Hmmmm, now let's see if I can focus this thing.

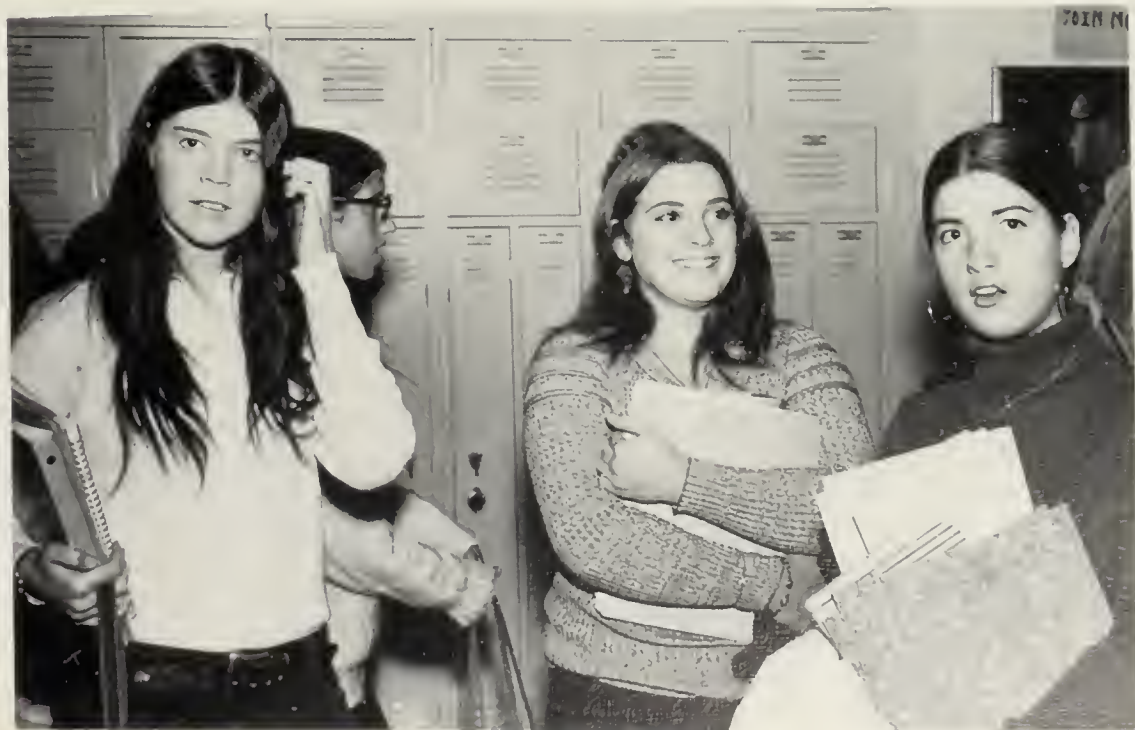

I've got to draw that!!!!

Don't start to write the conclusion until I take another look.

Did you hear that we're now number 1!!!!

I can't remember where my next class is.

Come on, it's for a good cause!

Let's go Tigers!!!!

Alright, whose the wiseguy?

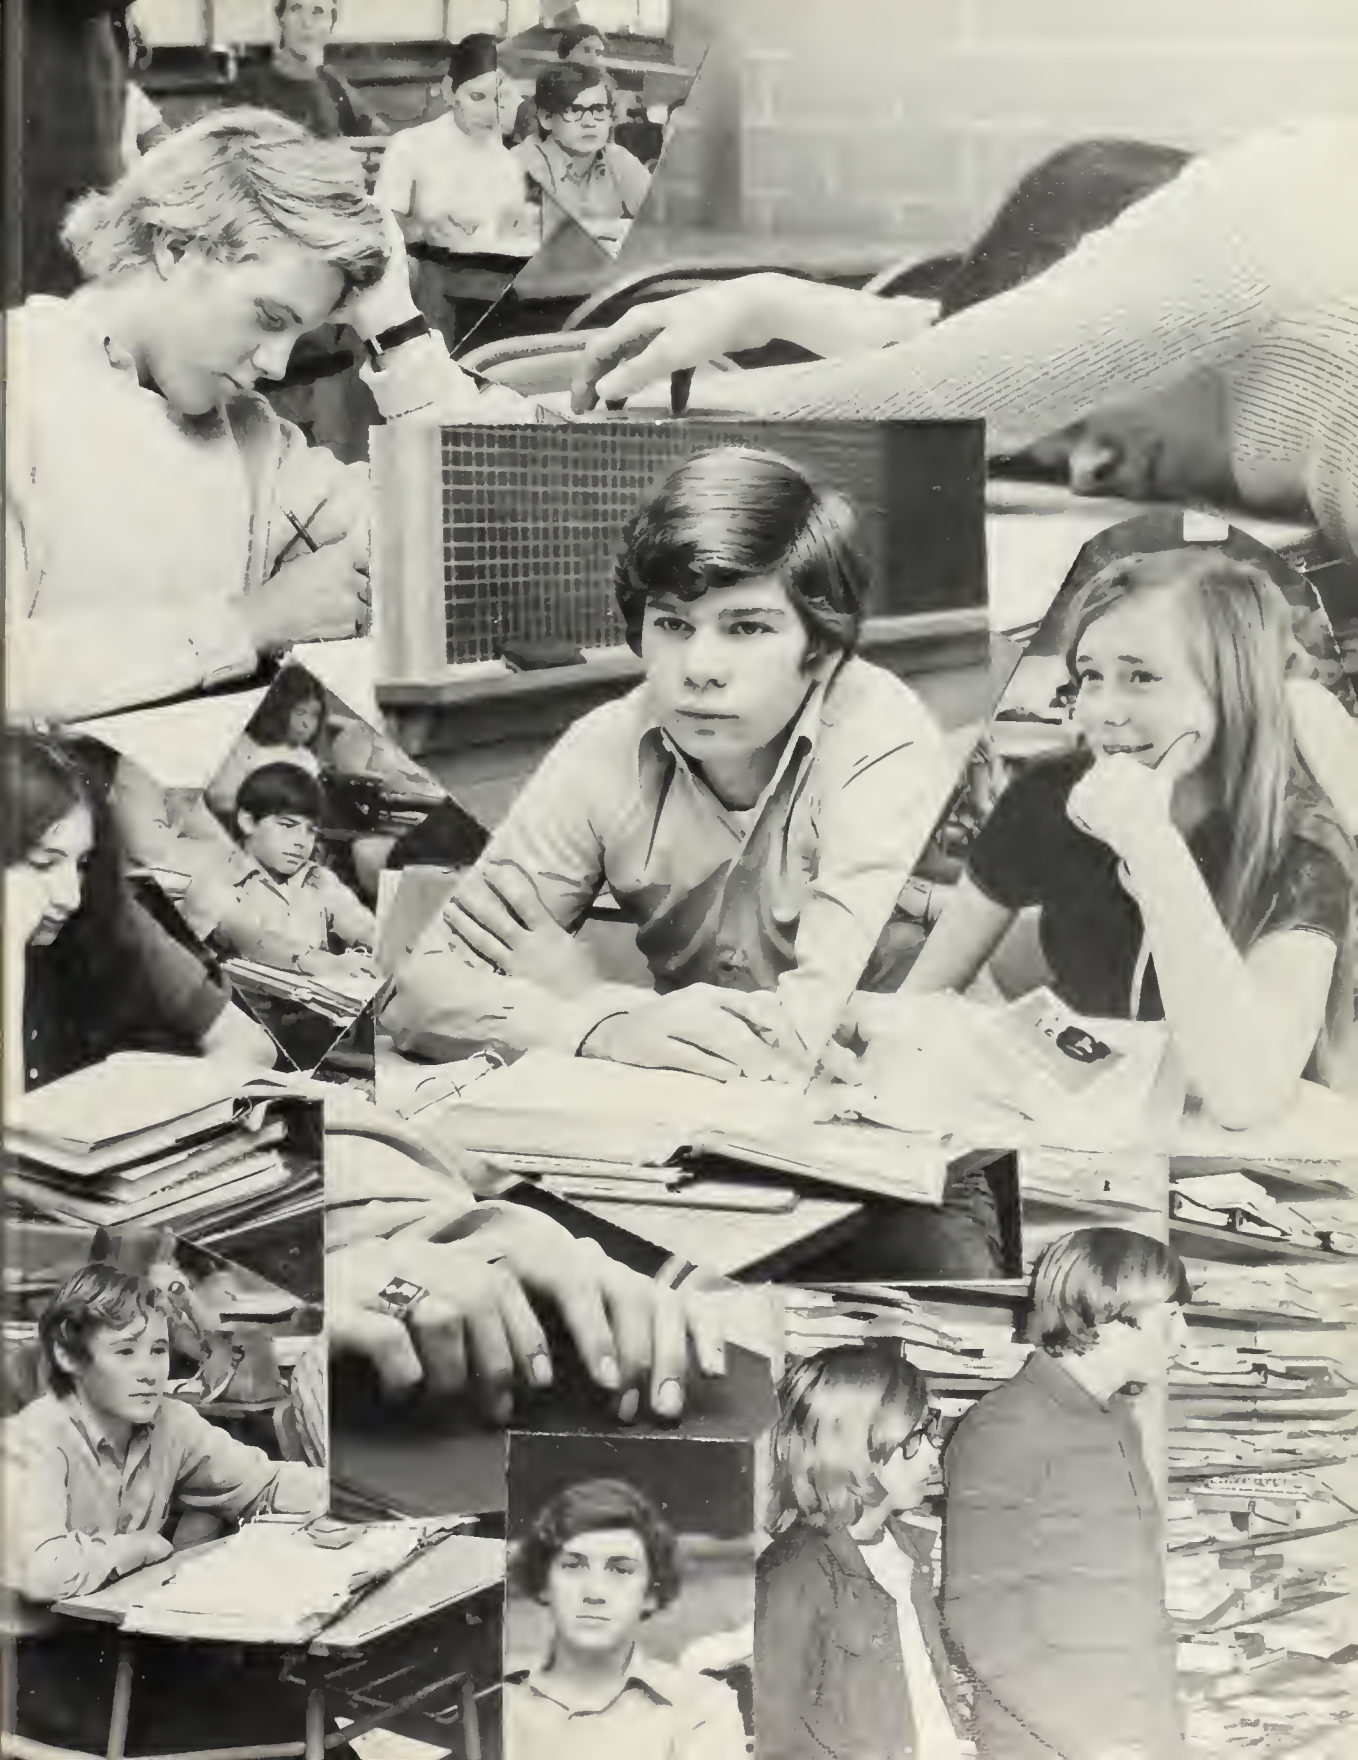

Looks like we're in trouble.

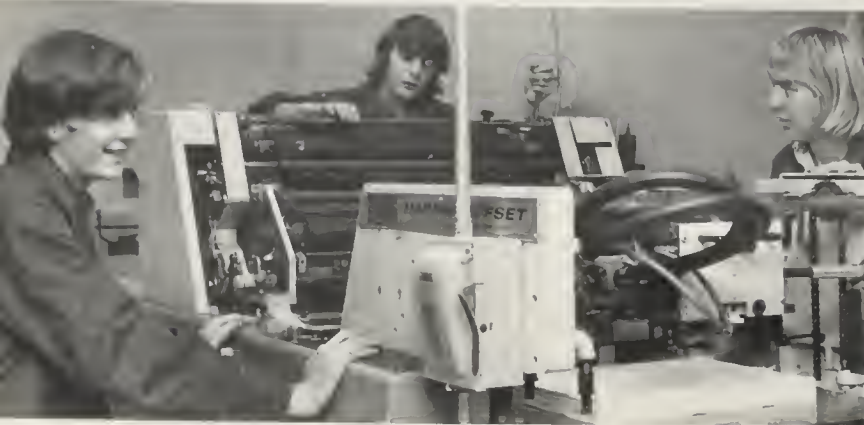

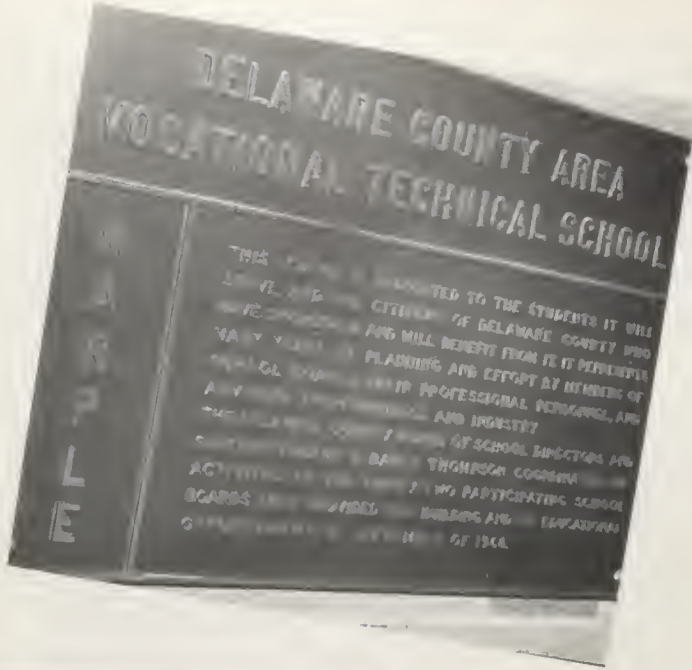

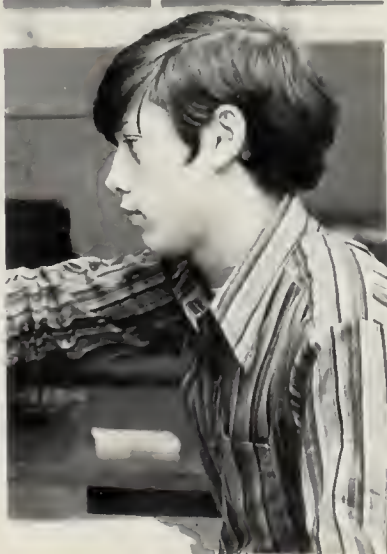

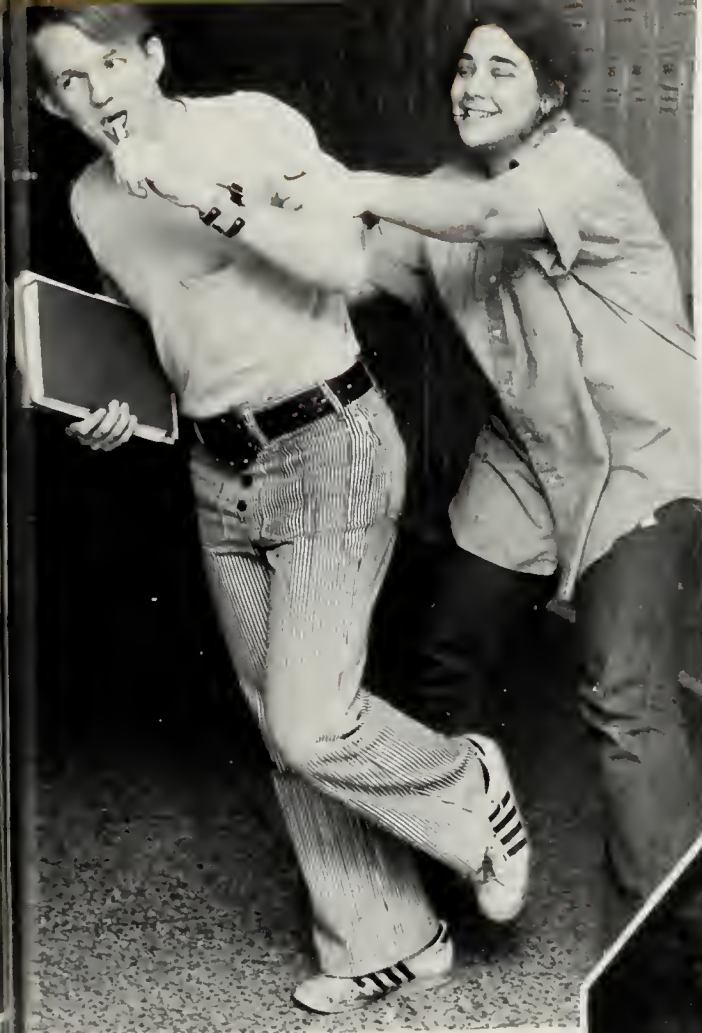

Time it was,
And what a time it was,
It was ...
A time of innocence,
A time of confidences.
Long ago It must be
I have a photograph.
Preserve your memories:
They're all that's left you.
